What is Vegan Wine?

A wine that is vegan is made without using any animal products. Traditionally the most commonly used fining agents were casein (a milk protein), albumin (egg whites), gelatin (animal protein) and isinglass (fish bladder protein). These fining agents are known as processing aids. They are not additives to the wine, as they are precipitated out along with the haze molecules.

This symbol is used on our marketing materials to show if a wine is vegan.
